P. Andrew Malcolm Consulting, Inc. provides packaging technology and project management services for companies experiencing deficiencies in critical expertise or engineering resources.

Through extensive hands-on experience in a variety of production, engineering, maintenance, and design positions, company founder and president Andy Malcolm has developed an understanding of how equipment, people, and materials interact in successful packaging systems. In his work with manufacturers of primary packaging materials, production companies, Fortune 100 Corporations, and fast growing, privately held companies; he has been responsible for numerous award-winning projects.

Andy holds a BS in Mechanical Engineering from Cornell University and an MBA from St. Mary's College of California. He is a registered professional engineer in the state of California, and a member of the International Society of Pharmaceutical Engineers, the American Society of Enology and Viticulture, and the Institute of Packaging Professionals, where he serves as the Chair of the Packaging Consultants Council. Andy has been professionally recognized on multiple occasions including as a recipient of two IoPP Ameristar Awards and an "Outstanding Diverse Supplier Award for Small Business" from Johnson & Johnson, the world's most comprehensive and broadly based manufacturer of health care products.

Andy Malcolm has a passion for packaging. Let him put it to work for you.
